- Non-employees should not react to student actions/behavior other than to report these actions to the administration.
- Non-employees, while on school premises, are expected to conduct themselves properly in both actions and speech.
- Non-employees are authorized to be on school premises only during regular school hours or during times pre-arranged with the school administration.
- Except where the Principal has provided specific written permission, non-employees who conduct business within a school must do so without soliciting students to participate or aid them in performing their responsibilities.
